Maria: What, I'm telling him personally because someone is calling me. I don't know if it's the Guardia Civil.

Maria: (talking to the Guardia Civil on the phone) Hello. Yes. Exactly. What's happening is that I have two brothers in Geneva. One of them always wants to come. He already came in February, and I had to call the Guardia Civil because I was scared. He wants to come into my room. I can't close the door. I can't protect myself. I want to call. He's filming me. He's accusing me of things with my other brother. I warned my other brother in Switzerland, who's going to report him in Switzerland. The Guardia Civil is going to come so I can report him. Now he's like crazy. The problem is that it's my mother's house. My mother wants him to stay, but my brother doesn't. I'm scared. I don't know where to go. I don't have a car. Could you call a taxi because I'm scared? He's crazy. Completely crazy. I'm going to try to get my things ready to go to the Guardia Civil.
