Mom: He doesn't mistreat you.

Mom: I don't remember.

Mom: Yes, yes.

Mom: I don't know about that, probably.

Mom: She's already gone.

Mom: She can answer your cell phone.

Mom: Well, yes, I don't know what to tell you.

Mom: As for what he's going to do...

Mom: Okay, don't worry, it's always much more, how can I put it, more serious, when we're not there. You've only been listening to your cat whining because he wants to go out.

Mom: Yes,

Mom: Yes, okay

Mom: Anyway...

Mom: Ah, you're both nice (Pedro et Lola)

Mom: I'll keep you posted, darling

Mom: Okay, and above all, don't alert the police.

Mom: Oh no, that's not possible.

Mom: Maria has already alerted the police, now you're the one alerting the police.

Mom: But it's the same.

Mom: But to tell them what?

Mom: Yes, yes.

Mom: For now.

Mom: Yes

Mom: Okay, darling, see you soon, ciao.
