

Annexe 93 - English

Mom: Just a moment. If Maria calls and I tell her you're here, she'll call the police to come get you here.

Carlos: Well, she can call them. Do you allow me to stay here?

Mom: Yes, of course.

Carlos: So, if she calls the police, what's the problem? But did you perhaps sign some documents saying you didn't want to see me?

Mom: Not that I know of.

Carlos: Maybe we'll get a surprise, Mom. You know we can get a surprise.

Mom: That is.

Carlos: That you signed some documents you've forgotten, which said that if I ever came here, the police would have the right to take me away because you don't want to see me.

Mom: If I signed something like that, then my memory is totally messed up.

Carlos: We're going to see Mom. We'll see what happens. Because it's quite possible.

Mom: Then you will have to go with them.

Carlos: But not if you allow me to stay. It depends on what you signed. Because she made you sign a lot of documents. You once signed a letter saying you didn't want to see me right now.

Mom: I don't remember.

Carlos: You don't remember. Yet they used that letter to forbid me from going near you. I wasn't allowed to go near you, Maria, Lola, or Pedro. They used a letter you don't even remember signing.
